A natural world in miniature

2020 Collection

Our Values

Safety, attention to detail, authenticity and excellence

Our Vision

To create the natural world in miniature

Our Mission

To inspire a love of nature and a sense of wonder at its diversity of creatures, through our range of authentically detailed, hand painted miniature animal figurines.

To stimulate creativity, through sensory play and imagination, and to encourage curiosity about the natural world - play, learn, collect, develop.

To bring to life the prehistoric world and foster an understanding of the evolution and extinction of species To highlight the importance of protecting our endangered species and their habitats.

To bring the highest standards of craftsmanship, materials and safety to our collectable range. The play models are solid, safe in water, easy to clean and dishwasher proof, ensuring they are hygienically safe.

Prehistoric World

Anthony Beeson

2020 sees CollectA enter its fourteenth year of existence in producing models of Prehistoric fauna and flora. It continues in its mission to both educate and to provide the greatest amount of creative play with the accuracy of its models.

This year in close collaboration with my colleague, the sculptor Matthias Geiger, we have produced another varied selection of animals for CollectA's prehistoric animals series.

Our Early Prehistoric Series has the addition of the huge dicynodont synapsid Lisowicia bojan that lived in what is now Poland during the Late Triassic Period and was named in 2019. It features an articulated jaw.

In CollectA's Popular series we offer a model showing the Early Cretaceous Japanese ornithomimid Fukuisaurus and a new unarticulated model of the British theropod Baryonyx to replace the existing one. A new model of Mapusaurus joins the Popular range as does an updated version of the well-known carnivore Allosaurus. New models in the same range, but produced at different scales, are Microraptor, a small, early Cretaceous four-winged paravian dinosaurs from Liaoning, China that we have produced at the request of an important Chinese museum, and Bajadasaurus a recently discovered and amazing sauropod from the Early Cretaceous epoch of northern Patagonia, Argentina.

In response to a request from a German palaeontological museum, CollectA have produced a series of Prehistoric Sea Creatures for the Popular range including some present day 'Prehistoric' survivals. These include Redlichia a species of trilobite, a Belemnite, Orthoceras, a nautiloid cephalopod, the ammonite Pleuroceras and the surviving Horseshoe Crab and Nautilus.

In the Deluxe Range we present a model of the ceratopsian Protoceratops, with an articulated jaw, from the Upper Cretaceous Period of what is now Mongolia. Also in this range is a model of recently named Saltriovenator a ceratosaurian dinosaur that lived during the Early Jurassic in what is now Italy.

In the CollectA Supreme range we present Caviramus a rhamphorhynchoid pterosaur from the Late Triassic era of Switzerland which we hope will find favour. It has an articulated jaw.

By popular request, our range of later Prehistoric Animals has the addition of a model with an articulated jaw of the huge shark Megalodon that lived from the Early Miocene to the Pliocene.

Wishing you all a happy and educational year of play and collecting.

COLLECTA

In Celtic and northern European folklore, the unicorn is often depicted as a white horse-like animal with a long horn. In the middle ages, it was commonly described as an extremely wild woodland creature, a symbol of purity and grace.

Celtic Knot

This pattern is said to represent the interconnection of life and our place within the universe. Celtic knots are referred to as endless knots due to the fact that they do not have an end or a beginning. The endless knots represent the eternalness of nature.

Sailor's Knot

This design features two intertwined ropes and may have been created by sailors during their long voyages as a means of remembering their loved ones. The Sailor's knot is symbolic of friendship, affection, harmony and love.

The Tree of Life
It is a representation of harmony and balance in nature. The Tree of Life symbolized strength, a long life, wisdom, and rebirth. The Celts also believed that they actually came from trees, and considered them magical, living beings. Trees were said to guard the land and acted as a doorway into the spirit world.

Celtic symbol
The Celtic symbol made up of three conjoined spirals in rotational symmetry is called Triskelion and means "three legs". This Triple Spiral represents the family as mother-father-child, eternity as life-death-rebirth and past-present-future. It is also believed to represent the three Celtic worlds: the spiritual world, the present world and the celestial world.
